POLITICAL LEADER IS SHOT FROM AMBUSH

CHICAGO, May 11.—An old felt hat and a saved off shot gun were the only traces discovered by police of the three men who early today shot and probably fatally wounded Anthony D'Andrea, 19th ward political leader. Tucked in the band of the hat was a $20 bill with a slip of paper marked "For Flowers."

Ship Works May Be Forced To Close Due To Coal Strike

LONDON, May 11.—Indications of the seriousness of the coal shortage caused by the miners' strike, which has been in progress since April 1, is furnished by announcement that the Vickers Shipbuilding and Engineering Company will be forced to close entirely at the end of next week, unless coal mining is resumed. The iron and steel works of the plant already are shut down.

Complete closing of the plant would accentuate the unemployment situation. It is estimated that each day of the stoppage of coal mining adds 10,000 people to the unemployed list. The illness of the miners is the chief cause of 1,100 ships of 1,500,000 tons being laid up in the 26 principal ports of the United Kingdom, while the effect was further reflected in the loss of trade returns yesterday, showing a decrease for April of nearly 20,000,000 pounds sterling in the value of imports and of more than 100,000,000 pounds sterling in the value of exports. The board of trade announced that the government has made arrangements for the importation of coal to supplement the existing stocks and to ensure as long as the mine stoppage continues, the maintenance of the services essential to the life of the community.

Norwegian Prima Donna Sings In 9 Tongues, Including Incan

Mme. Inga Julievna, Norwegian prima donna, who recently made her first American appearance at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, has the distinction of being able to sing well in nine different languages. She added the ninth language to her repertoire recently, when she learned the Incan language of Peru, in seven days. At her first appearance she sang the Incan melodies of Carlos Walderrama, the Peruvian composer, in the Incan tongue.

PETITION FOR VOTE ON REORGANIZATION IS REFUSED BY PRICE

COLUMBUS, O., May 11.—Attorney General John G. Price declined the request of Senator J. P. Burke, of Ohio, and others that he approve the form of a petition for a referendum on the state reorganization bill, holding it to be an emergency and not subject to referendum.

Upon receipt of the ruling from the attorney general, Senator Burke stated that he would be brought at once in the supreme court against the attorney general and against Secretary of State Harvey C. Smith, who has also refused to permit a referendum on the reorganization bill. Burke notified his attorneys, Squires Saunders and Dempsey, of Cleveland, of the ruling of the attorney general. They are preparing the petition, he said. It also became known today that Attorney J. E. Todd and J. F. Linton, of Columbus, would be associated with the attorneys seeking to knock out the emergency clause on the reorganization bill. Todd is a former law partner of Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, and Linton is a close friend of Daugherty. In his letter to Senator Burke today Attorney General Price says: "The act against which you propose to file a referendum petition is declared upon its face to be an emergency law necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, with the reason for such necessity set forth in the act. As laws of that character are expressly exempted from the referendum, it is my judgment that in this case I should decline to take any action in aid of such a course, and I therefore decline to approve the synopsis submitted."

ONE WOMAN IN BOX CLEVELAND, May 11.—Examination of evidence with a view to obtaining a jury to try Frank Motto for the first degree murder of W. C. Sly and G. K. Fanner, was resumed today. Eleven tentative jurors were in the box when court opened, one of whom is a woman.

MAKESHIFT CABINET GAINS REICHSTAG'S CONSENT TO SIGN

What Germany Agrees To Do

BERLIN, May 11.—The allied demand, in brief, was: Payment by June 1 of the 1,000,000,000 gold marks ($250,000,000) due on May 1. Trial of German officers and soldiers accused of crimes during the war. Complete disarmament of the military, naval and aerial arms of Germany's service, and Ultimate payment of $33,750,000,000 in reparations. The reparation obligation would be paid in installments of approximately $485,000,000 per year, in addition to 25 percent of the value of Germany's exports.

LONDON, May 11.—Germany's unconditional acceptance of the reparation terms was delivered to Prime Minister Lloyd George by Dr. Stimmer, German minister to Great Britain, here today. Non-compliance with the allied ultimatum would have subjected Germany to the occupation by the allies of the Ruhr Valley and whatever other military and naval measures were deemed advisable. Mr. Lloyd George announced in the house of commons this afternoon Germany's complete acceptance of all the allied demands. His announcement was greeted with prolonged cheering.

Dr. Stimmer handed the German reply to the prime minister at eleven o'clock this morning, and Mr. Lloyd George immediately telegraphed the news to all the governments concerned.

BERLIN, May 11.—Dr. Julius Wirth, the new chancellor, received what amounted to a vote of confidence in the reichstag last night, that body approving of the ministry's decision to accept the allied ultimatum. The vote stood 221 to 175, giving the Wirth government a margin of 46.

The votes cast for acceptance of the reparation terms were from the Centrist, Democratic, Independent Socialist and Majority Socialist parties. The Nationalists, German People's party, Communists and the Bavarian People's party were opposed to the plans of the ministry, as announced by the new chancellor.

In his address, Dr. Wirth emphasized the tremendous burden Germany would assume in agreeing to meet the reparation terms, but insisted the alternative of French occupation of the Ruhr valley would completely cripple Germany's industrial life and demoralize the country.

Outlines Reasons For Acceptance Of Terms In his speech to the reichstag, Dr. Wirth said: "Acceptance means that we declare our readiness to bear by involuntary labor, the heavy financial burdens demanded, year by year. Refusal would, however, mean surrendering the basis of our economic industrial activities and as a consequence, dismemberment of our economic body, already so greatly weakened and the shattering of our entire industrial life."

"But the effects might be even more terrible for our political existence and our realm. For these reasons the government accepts the ultimatum. We know that acceptance, by reason of the place Germany will occupy in the economies of the world will entail grave consequences. The responsibility for this falls on the allies."

"But there is one point concerning which there must be no obscurity. It will be useless to say 'yes' without the resolution to do our utmost to meet the obligations imposed upon us."

Dr. Wirth's answer to the supreme allied council will be an unconditional acceptance of the allied terms, but it has been indicated that representations would be made that compliance with the disarmament clauses of the allied ultimatum might be attended by danger, especially on the eastern frontier, where the Poles have engaged in a serious insurrection with the intention of taking possession of Upper Silesia.

No Demonstration In The Reichstag

Since the announcement of the new German ministry, there has been some speculation as to its stability. The imminence of a French invasion of the Ruhr district and ominous events in Silesia might have been effective in dampening enthusiasm yesterday, but the session of the reichstag at which the new cabinet presented itself was without demonstration and was frequently monotonous.

Dr. Wirth has been often considered an understudy of Matthias Erzberger, former minister of finance, and is believed to be determined to carry out the latter's financial policies, which are unpopular with members of the German People's party and even prominent Democrats. Announcement by Dr. Wirth that the ministry of finance was awaiting an occupant prompted

M'GANNON IS ARRESTED WHILE AT A SANITARIUM

CLEVELAND, O., May 11.—Tomorrow is set for the trial of former Judge William H. McGannon on the charge of perjury resulting from testimony given during his two trials for the murder of Harold C. Kagey.

The date was set by Judge Florence E. Allen, of the common pleas court, yesterday after she had declared his $5,000 bond forfeited and issued a capias for his arrest, following the report of two physicians appointed by the court that McGannon was physically able to stand trial.

McGannon was arrested in a sanitarium, where he has been confined since April 23, last yesterday, and after spending an hour in the hospital cell at the county jail, was released on bond of $5,000 after Judge Allen had refused to fix bail.

Deputy Clerk Lyons, of the common pleas court, accepted the bond offered by Mrs. Mary McGannon, the defendant's mother. Lyons said the bond fixed by Judge Nelson when McGannon originally was arraigned still obtained and that regardless of the forfeiture of the first bond, he was permitted as clerk to accept another.

Mrs. McGannon pleaded her residence as security. After his release McGannon returned to the sanitarium.

The date for the trial of Mrs. Delia McGannon, indicted for subornation of perjury in connection with the testimony of Joseph Johnson, during McGannon's first trial, was set for Monday.

McGannon, A. A. Carver, one of his counsel during the murder trials, E. J. Allen and Charles E. A. Baumgardner, former newspaper reporters, are scheduled to appear before Common Pleas Judge Powell in criminal court Friday for hearing on a charge of contempt of court for obstructing the administration of justice.

French Troops Clash With The Polish Rebels

LONDON, May 11.—It is reported that negotiations between the inter-allied commission in Upper Silesia and the Polish insurgents in that area, resulted last evening in the suspension of hostilities, says a dispatch to the Central News from Warsaw today.

It was agreed, according to this report, that the insurgents would occupy a line of demarcation agreed upon and maintain the stipulated positions pending final settlement of the Upper Silesian question, which is still pending in allied councils, where it rests, following the taking of the recent plebiscite in this area in dispute between Poland and Germany. The industrial territory, which has been largely overrun by the Poles, therefore would remain under Polish occupancy.

WELCOME, PITTSBURGH TOURISTS, CITY IS YOURS

One hundred and fifty men from the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh, are now guests of Peerless Portsmouth, the delegation arriving here on their special train this afternoon at 4:20 from Chillicothe, the stop here tonight being only one of a number made by the Golden Rule Tourists on their twentieth trade extension tour, through Ohio and West Virginia.

This is the second time Pittsburgh C. of C. men have honored Portsmouth with a visit, the first time being in May 1913, on their thirteenth tour.

The special left Pittsburgh May 9, the first stop being in Dayton. Last night the tourists were banqueted by the Columbus C. of C.

At the N. & W. depot the special train was met by a C. of C. reception committee, which included the Board of Directors.

Close to fifty automobiles met at the C. of C. on Gallia street at four o'clock and from there were ordered to the N. & W. depot, where the tourists would leave their train and become guests of the auto owners, who are to give them a two hour's drive over the city, including a visit to Sciotoville and Jacksonsville. The visitors will have dinner on their train and at 8 tonight will be entertained with a smoker at the Auditorium, Gallia and Bond streets.

Henry Bertram will be chairman. Mayor W. N. Gableman will make the address of welcome for the city, and Vallee Haro'd will welcome the tourists on behalf of the C. of C. Talks will be made by several of the visitors while choruses and quartet numbers will also be given by the Pittsburgh men.

A feature of the evening meeting will be a wireless telephone demonstration. The visitors have a wireless telephone outfit with them and will receive a message from the president of the Westinghouse Electric Company at Pittsburgh. The outfit is complete, so that the message may be heard in every corner of the Auditorium.

Dr. S. B. Linhart

Dr. Linhart is from the University of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Sipe and Mr. Terry are among the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce Golden Rule Trade Tourists here tonight. Mr. Sipe is a Division Inspector and Mr. Terry is Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

He was a devoted member of the Presbyterian church and county superintendent of Sunday schools for fifteen years. Mrs. Harover, three daughters, and two sons survive. Mrs. George C. Harover of Well-ton is one of the daughters.

More Common Sense Needed.
Before our children draw their first breath we start closing in upon them with every kind of theory. Theories to the right of them, theories to the left of them, they are often victims, as really as were the immortal six hundred, to the fact that "some one has blundered." In taking our children conscientiously, why must we let our idea of duty ride roughshod over common sense?—From the Atlantic.

GEORGE LAW BUYS TEMPLE THEATRE

Through a deal closed Tuesday afternoon the Temple theatre on 11th street near Lawson was bought outright by George Law, owner and manager of the Eastland theatre. The deal not only includes the theatre business but the building as well. The property in its entirety being purchased from William A. Spitzer who has had the show house since 1918 when he bought it from Harold Potts.

The theatre is of fire proof construction with a seating capacity of 300. The deal has been brewing for over a week. Mr. Law first intended to lease the building but later Mr. Spitzer received offers from other parties who wished to buy it. Mr. Law was determined to have the Temple and then made Mr. Spitzer a price which was accepted.

Mr. Spitzer, who associated with him for part time Ernest Weaver, the former taking over all the business recently when they gave up the lease on the family theatre at Sciotoville.

The new owner of the Temple will take charge Monday, May 16 when the picture policy will change. Now the pictures have been booked for the Temple already, the new management calling for all first run photoplays at the same popular prices which have been in force at the Temple.

Manager Law recently disposed of the exhibit theatre on Gallia street to Dallas Hyland of the Forest theatre. The Temple is only a short distance from the Eastland and Mr. Law will be able to give considerable time to building up the business at the Temple. The house will also be thoroughly renovated.

William Spitzer will continue his work as leader of the orchestra at the Eastland theatre.

Two Couples In Free For All

Milk bottles and knives were brought into play as weapons during a fight staged at the Mason grocery store, Fifteenth and Kinney streets, about five o'clock Tuesday afternoon by Lena Jackson and her husband, H. F. Jackson, on one side and Adam Stroud and his wife, Anna Stroud, on the other.

The two women started the scrap when they became involved in a hair pulling contest after failing out over a bill for compensation claimed by the Jacksons, who live at Camp Creek, Pike county, for supporting Stroud's child by a former marriage for the last four years, it is claimed. The two men joined in the battle, and when the police arrived and ended hostilities, both men were bleeding from cuts on their heads made by bottles.

The quartet was brought to the police station and later released on bond. The cases will come up for hearing in Municipal court Saturday morning.

Tri-State Association

Tuesday night at the weekly meeting of the River City camp, Woodmen of the World, plans were discussed for a Tri-State Association of Woodmen of the World. SOCIETY

The Massie School pupils were greeted by a capacity audience tonight at the High School, where they presented an exceedingly entertaining program. Each number was given with enthusiastic applause, and the group dances were reported to be particularly attractive.

The splendid success of the evening is largely due to the efforts of Miss Alice Miller, teacher of the eighth grade, Miss Harriet Scott, who directed the music, and Miss Florence, who lent their assistance in rehearsing the groups. The costumes of the Flower groups, representing violets, daisies, lilies, roses, were dainty indeed, and with the novel in flowing robes, were quite spectacular. The choruses and music accompanying were beautifully rendered.

The Dance of the Nations was another pleasing feature, the youngsters appearing in the native costumes of Ireland, France and Spain and dancing the folk-dances of each country, showing the careful training given the performers.

The Fairy Dances, including the Fairy Queen with hummingbirds, grass hoppers and butterflies were also subjects of much comment. Other special numbers included piano selections, violin numbers and vocal solos, which were received with much applause.

Mrs. O. D. Howard, 1020 Franklin avenue, will entertain with a dinner this evening at the Columbia country club in celebration of Mr. Howard's birthday. Covers will be laid for 14.

On the afternoon of May 17, Mrs. Howard will give a party for her sister, Mrs. D. D. Byers of the Caroline County club, Harisdale, New York, who is a guest at the Howard home.

Mrs. Byers and her mother, Mrs. Josephine Miller, will go to Portsmouth at the end of next week to visit Mr. and Mrs. James A. Haerz-Columbus Dispatch.

Mrs. Louella Jacobs of Findlay street entertained last evening in honor of the fifth birthday anniversary of her twin son and daughter, Albert and Alberta. Mrs. Carl assisted in entertaining the little folks who took part in several games. Refreshments were served to Charles Leonard, Ruth, Mildred and Dorothy Cramer, Ralph Gims, Harry Baker, Jessie Leonard, Benah, Alie and Eunice Halster, Jessie and Ed Goodan, Dorothy Jacobs, Inez Jacobs, Bessie Collins of Cosgrove and Mr. Edgar Nichols.

Mr. John Waten of Granview avenue is spending the week at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Miller, of Wait's Station.

Mrs. W. Grant Williams of Gallia street and Mrs. J. Frost Davis of Fifth street are home from a motor trip to Columbus, where they made a brief visit.

The song-service at Biglow church on Sunday evening will include music of the appealing Southern spiritual which will be sung by soloists, male and mixed quartettes. Mrs. S. K. Timmons will have charge of the congregational singing.

Girls of the Community Club asked to meet at the Auditorium, Thursday evening at 6:30 to make arrangements for a week-end stay at the Fresh-Air Camp. The girls will return on Saturday evening at 5:30 and return Sunday evening.

The Buckeye Social Club will have a dance Friday evening, May 13, at the Hausman Dancing Academy. They have also arranged for another dance in two weeks following, on May 27.

Rev. N. E. Butler of the First M. E. church officiated at the marriage of Miss Edith Mitchell and Mr. J. F. Warner last evening in his study. Mr. Warner is a local contractor and painter.

The Misses Margaret and Mabel Teichner, 709 Franklin avenue will be hostesses Saturday at a luncheon at the Harman for Miss Margaret Teichner, the fiancée of their brother, Mr. Wells H. Teichner—Columbus Dispatch.

The Misses Teichner and Dr. W. Teichner are daughters and son of Dr. and Mrs. Wells Teichner, former of this city.

The Ladies Aid of the Old Town M. E. church will meet Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. D. McNamara, on the east side. There will be an election of officers.

Everybody Worked But Father

"Father's stomach trouble seemed to be getting worse all the time and finally he had to quit work altogether. Two brothers and myself, gave up school and went to work to support the family. Father had lost sixty pounds in weight and was yellow as saffron and no medicine helped him. Telling a friend about it six months ago, she advised taking May's Wonderful Remedy. I got a bottle and it helped father at once. He was able to go back to work a month later, has regained his weight and strength and eats like a wood chopper. It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allows the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Flood and Blake, Fisher and Streich and druggists everywhere.—adv.

Editor of The Times:

In last Thursday's edition, I read that James Stuber, Assistant Chief of the State Bureau of Fish and Game, was about to start on the survey of 10,000 acres, on the West Side, of our county for a Game Preserve. This, I think, is a very good move, as these lands for the greater part, are very poor, and unfit for cultivation, but are well adapted for a Game Preserve.

I have written several articles on this subject for the Times, and am glad the State Authorities are taking an interest in the matter, and hope they will succeed in establishing the proposed Game Preserve.

The present leases, covering 10,000 acres, will serve well for a beginning, and if it proves good, the State later on, could lease or buy more land and in time have a magnificent State Park and Game Preserve, extending along the N. & W. railroad, between Otway and Prides to the Ohio river.

Such a tract would contain, perhaps, 30,000 acres, and should be made a refuge for elk, deer and other wild animals and all kinds of birds, native to this region. They should also set out all kinds of forest trees in the barren places, also fruit and nut trees, and give the people who visit the Park, the right to partake of the fruit. These together with the forest trees would help keep up our supply of timber, which has been greatly diminished in recent years.

Wild grape vines, wild strawberries, all of which are indigenous to the soil, and trees, such as wild animals and birds naturally like, such as wild cherry, mulberry, and persimmons should be set out. Drive ways should be laid out, the many excellent springs utilized, later on, rest houses should be established, and still later on, a fine hotel.

To aid in this a society should be organized in Portsmouth to cooperate with the state authorities in making it the finest Park and Game Preserve in the United States, outside of the Yellowstone Park.

I am glad that Attorney Arthur H. Bannan, who is a great student of wild animals and their habits, is taking an interest in the matter, and is using every effort to get the Game Preserve started. Let us hope it will prove a fact, as this Park and Game Preserve would prove a great asset to the country and be visited by tourists from all parts of the country.

Yours respectfully,
R. BREARE HOLCOMB.

KERSHAW ENTERTAINMENT IS BIG SUCCESS

The following account of a concert that the entertainment given last night for the benefit of the Episcopal choir may easily be classed with the more ambitious efforts of professionals. Mr. Kershaw's voice was at its best. His range is broad and his thorough knowledge of music is apparent in his manner of interpretation. He possesses an easy stage appearance and sings with feeling and power. His selections were varied, from the ever-popular "Tommy Lad" with its lilting happy-go-lucky strains to the dignified melody of Handel's "Drop Not Young Love."

In addition to winning for himself a place among Lake Charles singers, Mr. Kershaw also scores as a composer of three attractive numbers sung by Mrs. Gayle. As Mrs. Gayle's accompanist he brought out to advantage the charming qualities of "My Little One" and the graceful melody of "Tell Her."

Two Deals Closed

Through a deal closed today, J. E. Shump, a local real estate agent, sold two of his city properties to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bradshaw. The properties in the deal consisted of a modern home on Sixth street, and a flat on Glover street. They were purchased as an investment, the consideration being $10,500.

USE SKYLIGHT TO PULL OFF BIG ROBBERY

Wolff Store Victim Of Bold Raid; Loot Carried Away In Autos; Is Belief

One of the biggest robberies pulled off in this city for many months occurred early this morning when thieves effected an entrance to the Wolff Clothing company's store on Chillicothe. They removed the skylight and then had complete access to the store. Clothing, shoes, hats, ties, silk shirts, underwear, jewelry articles, suit cases, hand-bags, bathing suits, underwear, socks and raincoats were stolen, the estimated value being fully $1,500. It is believed that more than 50 expensive suits were stolen, 20 hand bags, eight dozen of silk shirts and possibly hundreds of neckties.

Believes Loss Is Fully Covered

Chester Riggles, manager of the store, stated today that the exact amount of goods would not be accurately known until the stock could be inventoried. He stated that Mr. Wolff was in Columbus and he was not certain whether he carried any burglary insurance, but he is of the opinion that the loss is covered. In February last Mr. Wolff's store in Ashland was burglarized of $500 worth of goods and the loss was covered by insurance. Mr. Riggles is of the opinion that the thieves used one, and possibly two machines to carry their loot away. They ransacked most of the silk shirts off the shelves, picked out the most expensive suits, the high grade hand bags, the best grade of shoes, the costliest ties, socks and the jewelry trays they emptied bodily. They ransacked the store and judging from the cozy-turkey condition in which the clerks found it this morning, they must have spent several hours in it. They turned out the lights and apparently went about their work in a cool and systematic manner.

None of the doors was found unlocked and the robbers had to carry their plunder through the skylight, of which they had removed the lid. They must have made 25 or more trips to the store as they carried away hundreds of dollars worth of goods. When they would find a low priced shirt they would toss it on the counter and look for the more expensive ones. So it was in the clothing and shoe departments.

It is believed that possibly the gang consisted of four or five men, as they must have packed goods for over an hour.

Took Goods Through A Skylight

There is a narrow gang-way back of the store, but it does not have an opening towards Fourth street and is blocked on the south end. The robbers had to carry their plunder over the roof and then into their machine, which probably was parked in the alley back of the New System Bakery, two doors south of the Wolff store.

Mr. Riggles after going to the roof of his building says he is convinced that the robbers hauled the goods up through the skylight, then crossed the roof of his building and the one adjoining and then dropped the loot to one or two men in an automobile.

Kenneth Markins, a clerk, who discovered the robbery when he opened the store for business this morning, shares the same opinion as Mr. Riggles and he is confident that the goods were carried "across the roof and dropped into a machine, as several pieces of goods were recovered on the roof."

It is evident that the thieves had laid their plans for sometime, as they must have worked very rapidly to carry as much goods away as they did in such short space of time. They rifled desk drawers and a money drawer, but only found a few pennies. Considerable money, checks and valuable papers were locked up in the safe. The robbers tampered with it, but abandoned their plans to open it when they found it securely locked. They cleared off some books on the safe and moved chairs away from it and evidently tampered with the lock for sometime.

All Departments Suffered A Loss

"I do not believe there is a single department in the store the thieves did not visit," Manager Riggles said today. "Why they stole suits in our tailoring department, some of them being in the making. They packed up all the suits that were being altered, one coming in from Greenup yesterday. They were especially fond of clothing, silk shirts and neckties and simply riddled these stocks. No, I cannot estimate our loss until the stock is inventoried."

Mr. Wolff was notified of the robbery by wire and will arrive here today from Columbus.

Two weeks after his Ashland store was robbed, the three men who turned the trick were arrested and jailed at Cattlettsburg. They confessed their guilt. In a recent jail delivery these three men gained their freedom when a hole was knocked in one of the walls of the prison, but two were later recaptured.

Chief Distel was notified of the robbery this morning and he and his assistants will bend every energy to work up a tangible clue. All nearby cities will be notified and the police will be asked to keep a lookout for the stolen goods.

NAPOLEON'S IDEAL WOMAN
The great Napoleon, in response to a question once asked by a lady, replied: "My ideal woman is not the beautiful society belle or the butterfly of fashion, but the matron who reaches middle age in complete preservation of health, with stalwart children by her side."

There are a great many women of middle age who owe their good health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that famous medicine for female ills. For almost fifty years this wonderful medicine, compounded of roots and herbs, has been restoring suffering women to health—adv.

Could Not Lie On A Feather Bed With Ease

Characteristic of the statements that have made Tauline a household word throughout the entire continent is that of Mrs. A. McEneaney, 433 West Eighth St., Cincinnati. She writes her truly remarkable experience as follows:

"I just know I am the happiest woman in Ohio since I got my health back. Rheumatism had me in its clutches for fourteen years and I had been confined to the house for months when I began taking Tauline. My feet and ankles were so swollen I couldn't raise my hand to my head. I ached all over and my skin was so sensitive it hurt me even to lie on my feather bed. I had a bad case of stomach trouble, too and I believe I was the most miserable person alive."

"Tauline is the only thing that ever helped me and my only regret is that I didn't try it years ago. It soon had me out of bed and able to get around. As my rheumatism left me I began to get some rest just at night. My improvement kept up until, today, I am in perfect health, able to go anywhere and haven't a pain or an ache. I have no more trouble from indigestion and eat anything I want."

"Soon after Tauline got me out of bed I went to the big revival meeting at the Tabernacle and when my friends saw me there they were so amazed they could hardly believe their own eyes as they had no idea I would ever get on my feet again. I will never forget I owe health and happiness to Tauline, the grandest medicine on earth.—adv.

Looks Bad For Kauff

NEW YORK, May 10.—James Shields, formerly an employee of Penny Kauff, suspended outfielder of the New York Giants, today testified at the latter's trial on a charge of larceny, that Kauff stole an automobile from James F. Brennan, December 8, 1919. In that year Kauff and Jesse Barnes, a Giant pitcher, were engaged in the automobile accessory business here.

According to Shields' story, he, Kauff and another man arranged to go out and look for the machines. When the trio saw Brennan's car, Shields swore that he and the third man waited some distance away, while Kauff unlocked the machine with a screw-driver. Kauff later drove up with the automobile, the witness said, and the three drove to a garage where the motor number plate was removed.

SOCIETY

Rev. George P. Horst will long have occasion to remember the "farewell" tendered him by the Pastor's Choir of the Second Presbyterian Church, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Williams, Tuesday evening.

The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the color scheme being carried out in the refreshment course.

After an evening of merry-making and fun, Mr. John E. Williams, in a pleasing manner, presented Dr. Horst with a large picture of the Pastor's Choir, taken on the steps of the Second Church. Enclosed in the picture was the following beautiful sentiment:

Now our ways divide:
No more our ever-present guide
In time of need will be your face,
Your presence has been very dear
To us; in absence we shall know
What'er you do, wherever you go
You think of us, as we of you.
With friendly thoughts, and kind and true.

If in our voices there has rung
A note of cheer, when we have sung
For you, then we rejoice that we
Have made your hours pleasantly.
Your counsel we shall not forget.
And though our eyes with tears be wet
At parting, thinking as we sing,
Of you, our note of cheer shall ring.
Perchance you'll come again our way;
We'll sing for you that happy day.

And will you now, for old time's sake
This picture of your choir take?
And seeing it, think of us here,
Remembering our note of cheer.
Remembering your grateful friends,
Your choir that still in singing sends
Its thoughts toward you; its love endures.
Believe us,
Most sincerely yours.

On coming to Portsmouth six years ago, Dr. Horst organized a girls' choir of fifty voices, which was given the name—Pastor's Choir. Under the capable leadership of Miss Anna Cramer, the organist, this choir has grown to be one of the best in the city, and it is with a feeling of regret they say goodbye to Dr. Horst. The following girls are members of the Pastor's Choir:

Margaret Barber, Katherine Burkhardt, Bertha Hoon, Lucile Abrams, Lucile Davis, Edith Cudde, Olga Easter, Elinore Ellison, Dorothy Cox, Dorothy Bush, Hope Perry, Dorothy Freund, Lillian Freund, Lorraine Harris, Mildred Hughes, Ruth Hanna, Roberta Hennessy, Frances Hicks, Melba Hunt, Evelyn Campbell, Susan Gould, Marjorie Gafford, Fern Gafford, Jennie May Jones, Ruth Sprague, Margaret Morgan, Louise Jones, Ruth Mordant, Mabel Tucker, Martha Morgan, Mildred McMillan, Elizabeth Patton, Fredrick Pridmore, Evelyn Patton, Janette Leisner, Betty Moore, Marjorie Sly, Helen Morris, Helen Shreve, Helen Tipton, Christened Thickett, Marjorie Thickett, Grace Uff, Hortense Williams, Marie Workman, Mildred Workman, Marion Wainwright, Katherine Rideout, Thelma Workman, Mary Edna Wolfe and Christine Rutledge.

Mr. and Mrs. Christian Hansen are leaving Thursday for New York, where they will visit Mrs. Hansen's relatives for a few days before leaving for Europe. They have secured passage together with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hansen, formerly of this city, now living in Cincinnati, on the palatial steamship "United States," and have passports that admit them to various countries, including Denmark, British Isles, Gibraltar, France, Belgium, Italy, Holland and Norway.

They will sail from New York on May 19, and have a two weeks ocean trip before reaching Christiania, Norway, their first port from where they will sail for Bornholm, Denmark, for a visit with the parents and other relatives of the Messrs. Hansen. They expect to be absent four months.

All members of the First Evangelical church choir are asked to be present for rehearsal Thursday evening to prepare for the song service Sunday evening.

Your Manners

It Is Correct

For a mother when performing introductions between her daughter and men to follow the usual form, as "May I present Mr. Blank?"

When a man introduces a friend to a woman after permission has been granted, to say, "Miss Blank, Mr. Brown desires the pleasure of your acquaintance."

For a young lady to rise when another lady is presented to her.

For a lady to keep her seat and bow when a man is presented to her.

For men to shake hands when presented to each other.

It Is Not Correct

For a man who is presented to two or more ladies at the same time, to single out one for special attention.

For a man to leave a group of people while they are in conversation.

He should be the last speaker and add a word of apology.

For a lady to make a move towards taking a man's arm before he offers it.

For a man to offer his arm to a lady in the day time unless she is plainly in need of assistance.

For a man when assisting a lady, to take her arm.

Billy Welker

Billy in a thrice saw what was wanted, so ran up behind and butted the man through the window so quickly that it sent both the man and the burglar sprawling on the floor. This surprised them so that the burglar stopped pulling and there they sat looking at each other for the space of a second. Then the burglar jumped up and started to run out the door, but was butted back by Billy, who was standing there expecting something of the sort.

While the burglar was down the man tied his arms and legs, for he was too frightened to resist. He had seen a big cat with long beard and horns standing in the door, and in the window was a jet black cat with yellow eyes. They seemed supernatural to him, and he was afraid to move for fear of being butted again.

"Now is our time to escape," whispered Billy.

But as he said this the Chinaman slipped through the hole in the fence and grabbed hold of the rope with which Billy had been tied, before he had time to escape.

The Chinaman tied Billy Jr. back into his own yard and tied him to an iron ring in the shed. Stubby was called inside the house to help the man and his wife watch the burglar until the police patrol came to take him away.

It soon came rattling down the street and the burglar was hustled into it with little ceremony. As he left he turned to the man and said:

"If it hadn't been for that stubby-tailed dog of yours I would have gotten away with all your money. You never heard me until he commenced to make such a fuss."

"Blankety, blankety him! I shall come back and kill him the minute I am out of jail."

"Better wait until you are out," said one of the policemen, "before you tell what you are going to do."

"It will be a mighty long time, if I am not mistaken," said another, "for I think you are Black Jack, the man we have been looking for for some time."

"The Chinaman walked to the hole in the fence, and as he climbed through, he turned and made a face at Billy and said:

"I fix you gontee for knoekee my fence down."

Billy bleated to Stubby to bite the Chinaman's heels, which he did before the Chinaman knew there was a dog around and he came bounding through the fence with his pig-tail straight out behind—he came in such a hurry.

"Thank you, Stubby," bleated Billy. "I'll do as much for you some day."

When he bleated this it sounded as if he were laughing at the Chinaman, which made him furious and he picked up a club and ran to hit Billy, when a little yellow dog caught hold of his flying shirt which Chinamen always wear outside their trousers, and shook it until a piece dropped out which he held in his mouth.

Then Stubby jumped at him for another bite, but he was too late. The Chinaman had bounded into his laundry and shut the door.

Want Peace With Rail Labor Board

TOLEDO, O., May 11—Peace with the railroad labor board was the keynote of delegates attending the second triennial convention of the Switchmen's Union of North America in the third day's session here today.

Formal cognizance of the board's recent findings of the fact that the recommendations as a solution of the wage controversy was taken by the union. The publicity committee authorized a statement that no action on the recommendation by the convention is likely.

"We will not antagonize the board unless it should thrust upon us a condition which was impossible to accept," the report read.

The combined reports of the finance committee showed the union to have more than $750,000 in its funds.

House Votes To Cut Army

WASHINGTON, May 11—The army appropriation bill, passed the house yesterday, was sent to the senate military committee today for report. An attempt probably will be made by that committee, it was said, to increase the number of enlisted men above the 150,000 provided for by the house. At the last session the senate favored a force of 175,000 although it subsequently consented to 155,000 in conference with the house. The bill passed at that time through a pocket veto by President Wilson. Secretary Weeks has recommended an enlisted strength of 168,000.

The bill passed by the house yesterday carried $220,000,000, as compared with $232,000,000 provided in the measure passed at the last session. The present strength of the army is about 235,000 men.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

BY PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

CHERRY MAKES ANOTHER FRIEND
Aunt Della stayed a week, and during that time she and Cherry had several talks together. Cherry found that this new relation of hers was a thoroughly sane, dignified, to love the world, with all its faults, and eager to see the good in people, wherever it was possible.

"It don't help folks one bit to be always on the lookout for the most in someone's eye. And I've always found that if you look for the best in your fellowmen, you'll find it sooner."

Cherry explained one afternoon as they were walking out in the country together. Aunt Della had one strong grudge against the people of Wheelersburg; they did not walk enough. "Made money too fast, the most of 'em, and now they must all be riding in their own cars. Tain't a bit good for healthy folk, either. Girls in my day were much stronger than they are now, my dear, and they seemed to be happier, too, somehow."

"I just love to walk, Aunt Della," said Cherry, in answer. "So whenever you feel like a hike, call on me. You see, I was brought up in the city, and most of my walks consisted in walking the hard pavements. It was always a great treat to us, as children, when we were taken to the country and could take real walks, on real earth."

"You're a sensible little girl," vouchered Aunt Della, smiling. "Cherry," she affectionately. "Just the sort of a wife that our boy needed. I'm glad that he found you 'stead of taking some of the empty heads that run after him before, girls whose parents made money too quickly for their own good, or their children's either. He'll do things with you at his side, I'm sure."

Cherry felt to wondering about these empty heads who had filled Ned's life before she did. She was sensible enough to realize that there had been other girls in her husband's life, as there had been other men in her own, before she came along. That was only natural. But maybe there had been one special one in Wheelersburg, who had hoped to become the wife of Edward, and now carried about a broken heart? Her Edward.

"If ever you're in doubt about things and feel that you've got to do something foolish—just you take the train up to your old Aunt Della's and we'll fix everything up together."

After these words, she sighed happily. Yes, Aunt Della was to be a friend, the very best in the world.

Tariff Bill On Home Stretch In The Senate

WASHINGTON, May 11—With debate limited to ten minute periods, the emergency tariff measure swung into the home stretch in the senate today. Passage of the measure before adjournment was regarded as certain, proponents counting upon six to eight Democratic votes, in addition to almost solid support from Republican members.

Debate yesterday was featured by a double attack from the minority side with Senators Reed of Missouri, and Walsh of Massachusetts, sharing the floor during most of the session.

More than a score of amendments awaited action today and, following the verdict of the senate, the bill will be sent to conference for the purpose of ironing out the differences which have arisen since it passed out of the house.

WELL KNOWN PEOPLE TO TAKE PART IN EASTERN STAR PLAY

Good progress is being made daily in the rehearsals for the Eastern Star Show, "Hills and Hills of 1920." Mr. and Mrs. Jenni Jordan of the Jordan-Detroit Producing Co., have the play under their personal direction, and will be remembered in connection with former successes here.

Much amusement and enthusiasm are being evoked as the clever situations and comedy lines of the revue unfold themselves. It requires an unusually large speaking cast, which includes such well known talent as Edw. Edwards, Chester Higgins, Carl Walker, John Hester, Will Daubler, Dr. and Mrs. Vaughn Finney, Mrs. Wm. Quinn, Mrs. Tillie Graf, Mrs. Edna Wilson, Mrs. Dorothy Oakes, Mrs. Charles Massie, Mrs. Louella Cowdrey, Olga Albertson, Anna Putzke, Minnie Glaze and many others. The cast in its entirety and the personnel of the chorus will be announced in a few days. The musical numbers will be well taken care of among Portsmouth's recognized singers, and the dancing groups are comprised of the city's

Great Meetings At First Baptist

Do you know there is a Rescue Mission for Christians in Portsmouth this week? That is what Rev. Robert C. McQuilken of Philadelphia calls the series of meetings now in progress at the First Baptist church.

Tuesday was a great day at the Conference. Beginning at nine o'clock in the morning was a meeting for prayer which proved a great blessing to all those present. A meeting at three o'clock in the afternoon was preceded by a thirty-minute prayer service. Mr. McQuilken began a study of the book of Romans which is proving most helpful. Those who can attend these afternoon Bible studies in this letter of St. Paul's will find them to be very helpful. These studies will continue on this afternoon, tomorrow and Friday afternoons.

In spite of the threatening aspect of the weather a good crowd greeted Mr. McQuilken at 7:30 last evening. After a spirited song service of fifteen minutes led by the pastor, Rev. H. Stewart Bliss, Rev. McQuilken brought a message based on the words "The Master is Come and Calloth for Thee." He prefaced his remarks by saying that the Lord is here to bestow rich gifts to all who will receive, and not to scold anybody. He is here to give Peace. Not that the Lord will keep all trouble and temptation away but that He will give Peace and Victory in the midst of these things.

Each of us think we could trust the Lord for Victory over all sin if we were in different circumstances, but the place in which we are is too hard for the Lord to give us Victory. But where we are is the only place we can ever receive this gift, for it is a gift and none of our own working.

Satan gets much stirred up when folks are taught from God's word that God is able and willing to give complete victory over sin. He doesn't worry much when folks try to be good. We may even study the Bible without disturbing him much providing we do not let the Lord come in by the spirit and transform our lives, giving us Victory over Satan and every temptation.

It was pointed out that God is at this moment doing all that is possible to be done by Him for every person in the meeting. The Victory was accomplished by His Son on the cross and it is offered as a free gift to all who will surrender and believe Him.

A war savings stamp sign was used as an illustration. It read "Save and Buy for Victory. Do it now. Guaranteed by the United States Government." To advertise God's offer of Victory it was made to read, "Surrender and Believe for Victory. Do it now. Guaranteed by The King of the Universe."

Looking spic and span, a handsome new boat just off the docks at Pt. Pleasant, where it was built for the Federal government, laid at the local wharf over Tuesday night, departing Wednesday morning for the Mississippi river, where the craft will be put in commission operating a government large line.

The new boat, which has been named "St. Louis," is constructed entirely of steel and the craft presented the appearance of a battle cruiser as it skimmed over the waters of the beautiful Ohio.

80 Persons Examined At Trachoma Clinic

Over eighty persons appeared yesterday for examination at the trachoma clinic being conducted by the U. S. Public Health Service and the State Department of Health in conjunction with the Bureau of Community Service and the Scioto county chapter of the Red Cross. Some of the patients had been examined in the schools, but quite a few were adults and in some cases showed what long continued trachoma will do if allowed to go untreated. Several persons appeared who had red and swollen eyelids, weeping eyes and illness of vision. Years ago these individuals contracted trachoma and as there was no place for them to go for treatment at that time, their eyes were not treated. Dr. Raynor, who was sent here by Surgeon McMullen said: "These old, untreated cases are as bad as any I see in Kentucky, although of course many such cases go blind. On the whole, the other cases I have seen here are not so severe nor are they so numerous as in Kentucky."

Dr. F. G. Boudreau of the State Department of Health who came Tuesday to assist at the clinic said that the work which had been done to rid Portsmouth and Scioto county of trachoma was bearing fruit. "Our plan during the last survey of the schools was conducted by Dr. L. B. Tate was to collect all cases that could be checked as suspicious and bring them to the clinic in order that we might estimate the value of previous surveys and clinics. The result has been very gratifying for while at previous clinics nearly all persons who were brought to the clinics turned out to have real trachoma, a much smaller proportion was found this time. When the doctor finds cases resembling trachoma in the schools he excludes them until clinic time. Cases which are not true trachoma benefit very much by a few days rest at home where the eyes are not under a strain. At the clinic many of these patients show so much improvement that it is not necessary to give any further treatment. That was the case yesterday. It simply shows what persistent and intelligent effort will do in dealing with trachoma."

Seventeen patients were operated on for trachoma. One child was operated on for trachoma and the tonsils and adenoids were removed at the same time. Besides the seventeen patients two others were operated on for tonsils and adenoids by local doctors.

Dr. Tatje and DeCrow, representing Portsmouth and Scioto County Boards of Health cooperated at the clinic. Many local and county doctors also attended and assisted.

Visiting physicians remarked upon the fine cooperation existing between health departments, voluntary health agencies and the local physicians. Dr. Boudreau said: "We find spirit of cooperation shown by local physicians to the various health agencies indicates that the standards of the medical profession in Scioto county are high. Physicians sometimes fear that health department activities will hurt their business, but physicians here are evidently anxious for their patients to receive all possible benefits without any selfish consideration. I am sure this spirit will help to make Portsmouth and the county fit and healthful places to live in."

The trachoma clinic continues throughout today.

Case Was Passed
Russell Monk a well known plumber, appeared in Municipal court Tuesday to meet a charge of disorderly conduct made in a complaint filed by his former wife, Mrs. Ruth Monk 618 Ninth street, but the latter failed to appear to press the charge and the case was passed.

Wheel Stolen
A bicycle belonging to A. G. Spence, 2205 Grant street, was pilfered from in front of Trinity church, where it was left for a time, the owner stated in reporting the theft to the police Tuesday.

Case Is Continued
When the case of Albert Ashenbult, Walter street barber, charged with driving his automobile while intoxicated, came up for hearing in Municipal court Tuesday, Judge Sprague granted another continuance to May 17 to give the defense an opportunity to bring material witnesses into court to testify on behalf of the accused.

HANNA'S GREEN SEAL LIQUID PAINT

Where One Gallon Equals Two

Quality does tell! Measured by covering capacity and length of wear, one gallon of Hanna's Green Seal Paint proves itself equal to two gallons of so-called "cheap" paint. And there's a reason: viz.,—no paint can be better than the ingredients that go into it.

HANNA'S GREEN SEAL PAINT contains only highest grade ingredients, universally recognized as necessary in making good paint. If a paint is sold at a ridiculously low price it simply means that it is lacking in these necessary ingredients and contains cheap adulterants.

The exact formula is printed on every package of Green Seal.

Annual Inspection
Members of Mt. Vernon Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, are anticipating a great time at the annual inspection of the chapter to be held on Thursday, May 12, when W. H. Kelley, one of the best known Masons in this part of the state, will lead a delegation of Wellston Masons for the affair. Mr. Kelley will be the inspecting officer, and the fact that he will be here, coupled with the further facts that there will be several candidates for the royal arch and a big feed later on in the evening, means a big audience. Work in the Royal Arch will begin promptly at 6:30 o'clock p. m.

Sunday Is Straw Hat Day
Fashion has decreed that next Sunday, May 15, is Straw Hat Day in this city and hundreds of others and no doubt winter hats will give way to the light and airy straw bonnet.

Goodyear Holds Meeting
AKRON, O., May 11.—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company stockholders today held their long deferred meeting and passed on refinancing plans. A resolution was passed authorizing the $200,000,000 eight percent, twenty year first mortgage bonds which already have been over-subscribed. Issuance of $200,000,000 eight percent, ten year debenture bonds also was authorized. The meeting adjourned until Saturday without any action being taken on reorganization.

Homeopaths Elect Officers
COLUMBUS, O., May 11.—The Homeopathic Medical Society of Ohio will include its two day convention here today after having elected officers for the ensuing year and selecting the meeting place for next year's convention. The place of the next meeting lies between Columbus, Dayton and Cincinnati.

Everybody Going To Cuba
CINCINNATI, O., May 11.—The lure that Cuba has for Cincinnatians since prohibition went into effect was demonstrated today when the board of health appointed an amendment assistant to E. Walter Evans, registrar of vital statistics. Evans explained that he was overwhelmed with demands for birth certificates as a requirement for passports to Cuba.

Cain Is Playing Fine Ball
Friends of Emmett (Rabbit) Cain will be pleased to learn that he is playing fine ball for the strong professional team in Massillon. He is feisty and batting in old time form. In a recent game against Akron, Cain's single in the ninth inning won the game as it scored the deciding run.
Eddie Doyle, who is employed in Massillon, writes friends that the team is the strongest that ever represented that city and is made up of big leaguers. Cain formerly played here and was one of the best infielders in the Ohio State league.

Bread Prices Take Drop
IRONTON, O., May 11.—The Iron City Baking Company today announced a cut in wholesale bread prices. The large loaf which formerly wholesaled at 12 cents, is now whole-saled for 10 cents, and the loaf that wholesaled at 8 cents is now whole-saled at 7 cents.
The Bake-Rite announced a cut in the 1-2 pound loaf, which will retail at 12 cents. The labor troubles at the two plants have been adjusted.

SOCIETY
The Clover Club closed the club season with a meeting of much interest Tuesday evening at the home of Misses Alice and Anna Padan on Locust street. The topic, "Art in Localities," was quite instructive, the papers being upon the subjects: "Tryon in the Blue Ridge Mountains"—Mrs. Watson Goddard. "Candlewick in Tennessee"—Mrs. Mavis Bridges. "Artistic Weaving in the Mountains of North Carolina"—Mrs. Chester Lloyd. "Seben and Kirschmayer, Craftsmen"—Miss Elizabeth Ricker. "Heirlooms"—Miss Juliette Silex. Mrs. William S. Sellards told very interestingly of the presentation of the gift from the city of Marion to President and Mrs. Harding, on the last day in their home-town. The gift was presented by Mrs. Sellards' father, the Rev. T. H. McKee in behalf of the citizens.
A note of greeting from Mrs. Albert Marling, who is now abroad, was read to the members, who planned for an outing at the Brown farm at Rockville in two weeks.

The following will be read with interest by friends of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Smith, formerly of this city, whose son, Kenneth Smith, spent his boyhood days here.
"Announcement is made of the marriage, Monday evening, May 9, of Miss Agnes Clarke of the traveling department of the state library, to Mr. Kenneth Locke Smith, 174 Lottles avenue, manager of musical artists. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Anna D. Clarke, 558 East Long street, formerly of 618 Franklin avenue."—Columbus Dispatch.

The W. F. M. S. of Bigelow Church was entertained at the hospitable home of Mrs. W. O. Feurt on Seoto Trail Tuesday afternoon. Fifty members of the society enjoyed the pleasant trip and the interesting afternoon following. Mrs. C. E. Chandler read letters from her daughters, Misses Mary and Frances Chandler, who are in South America, telling of their mission work there. Rev. C. E. Chandler also gave a talk. The playlet, "Miss Friend," was given by Mrs. P. E. Selby, Mrs. Clemens Swickard and Miss Mary Margaret Fuller. Refreshments were served later to the guests.

STOP ITCHING SKIN
Zemo the Clean, Antiseptic Liquid, Gives Prompt Relief
There is one safe, dependable treatment that relieves itching torture and that cleanses and soothes the skin. Ask any druggist for a 35c or $1 bottle of Zemo and apply it as directed. Soon you will find that irritations, pimples, blackheads, eczema, blotches, ringworm and similar skin troubles will disappear.
Zemo, the penetrating, satisfying liquid, is all that is needed, for it banishes most skin eruptions, makes the skin soft, smooth and healthy.
In skin troubles, ordinary soaps are irritating and liable to aggravate the condition. Use Zemo soap. It is antiseptic, soothing, and hastens the process of healing.

FOOT FACTS
There are 26 small bones in the foot held in place by ligaments; covered with muscles and tendons to give strength and power for movements. Fed by the main arteries and veins, and controlled by nerve impulses from the central nervous system of the brain. Accidents, strains, wearing improper shoes, wrong mode of walking, long standing at work, etc., will cause distorting a misalignment of the bones, especially in the arches of the foot. The pressure from these distorted bones is felt on the nerves of the foot, then reflected throughout the whole nervous system. Many cases of nervousness, especially in women, are directly traceable to distorted foot bones. Tired, sore and aching feet, pains that extend throughout the foot even reaching the knee, hip and back, fallen or broken arches, and many other disorders are but the direct results of distorted bones. Salves, lotions or foot powders will not restore these bones to their proper place. To give relief, the bones must be restored as far as possible to their normal condition—thereby removing the cause of foot troubles of all kinds. This is what a Foot Correctionist does. The bones are restored to proper place by scientific manipulation. The tendons and muscles are strengthened and if necessary, a proper fitting foot rest is built from an impression of the foot so constructed to hold the bones in proper position, worn in the shoe with perfect comfort. Advice is given in regard to proper shoes to wear, proper size to buy, proper exercises for strengthening the muscles and if necessary the proper elastic wear to use—in fact, everything necessary to restore the foot to normal. Corns Will Go while you sleep—if you do this
APPLY Blue-jay to a corn tonight—the liquid or the plaster. It is done in a moment.
The corn ache will end; the removal of the corn will begin.
Hour by hour Blue-jay will gently undermine that corn. In a little while the corn will loosen and come out.
Cease your wrong methods. Try this modern, this efficient way.
There is no need for harsh treatment, no need for soreness. And paring is futile and dangerous.
All about you are people delighted with the Blue-jay method. Find out what they know about it. Try it tonight.
The way is easy, gentle, sure and scientific. A famous chemist perfected it. A laboratory of world-wide repute prepares it.
Millions of corns every year are removed by it. Countless people, by its use, keep free from corn pains always.

Friday, May 13—Labor Council vs. Selby.
Saturday, May 14—Excelsior vs. Selby.

Although two hits were made and men were on third and second, Waits, who is some hitting, popped up a little fly for a double play, quickly extended by "Helen" Groh on second.

Just the N. & W. bats would not be denied and added a run in the second when Shoemaker took two losses on his line single to left, which Rogers kicked into a double. Thimmes walked, Vaughters singled thru short. Shoemaker scored. Thimmes, however, was tossed out at the plate. Goode rolled third. Townsend walked and so did Sowers. But Cardwell was easy. Spencer to Elliott. The victors made one in the third. After Hickley had been retired, Waits singled to right, only to be forced at second. Thimmes sent a long fly to left, which Rogers missed. Shoemaker registering.

The ball game went up in the fourth. Manager Goode started trouble by slugging to short, and scored on Townsend's long triple to middle. Sowers single scored Townsend. Cardwell fanned. Hickley walked, and out went Spencer. Mowery gave Collis a change when he forced Waits to hit to third, but the batsman slipped a cog. Sowers scored on a fiddlers choice and Hickley came home on Thimmes' long fly to right. Goode ended the scoring with a long fly to middle. The score:

NEW YORK, May 11—The Brooklyn Dodgers beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 3 to 0. The game was played in a steady drizzle, and this, possibly, has much to do with the poor control of Spencer, who is generally as reliable as an elph clock. He would have gotten by much better, had his team-mates not fanned down on him defensively and offensively. No pitcher can win when his backers fail to give him a run, and the way Townsend was going last evening, a single cushion shot to center. He fielded his position beautifully and cracked out a resounding triple to the embankment in middle.

Two base hits—Schultz, Kelly, Frisch, Hornsby. Three base hits—Mann, Hornsby. Home runs—Young, Schultz. Sacrifice hits—Sallee, Fournier 2. Stolen bases—Schultz, Lavan. First base on balls—Off Neft 1; off Sallee 1; off Vertica 2; off Goodwin 2; off North 1. Struck out—By Neft 1; by Ryan 1. Double plays—Lavan to Hornsby to Fournier; Hupp to Frisch to Kelly.

LUXURY AND USEFULNESS IN ONE

It is a constant source of surprise to see the ever enlarging numbers of automobiles upon the streets of the city, but it is doubtless if that fact brings us to anything like a proper conception of the immense hold this comparatively new means of transportation has taken upon the affairs and order of the nations existence.

Four or five years ago it was taken as amazing that there were four million motor cars in use, but such has been the development of their manufacture and purchase those figures are more than doubled, the present total, that is at the beginning of this year, was 9,211,295.

In gain 1920 surpassed all other years, leading in cars sold at home and abroad, the actual production being over 2,000,000, or more than one-fourth of the product in use today, that is counting only up to four months ago.

As another way of looking at it there is one automobile for every twelve persons. It is rather remarkable that the three most distinctively agricultural states have the greatest number to the ratio of population, South Dakota being first with one car to each five persons, Iowa second with one to each five and half and Nebraska third with one to five and nine-tenths persons. New York takes the lead from California and heads the list with 670,290, West Virginia had the greatest percentage growth, with 61 percent, but Ohio was above them all in the numerical gain, 110,359.

Last year's record shows that the automobile, introduced and becoming the rage as a purely pleasure vehicle, is fast passing, or rather rapidly lessening that phase. Over three million motor vehicles are now used by farmers who combine them both for business and pleasure and most half of the 1921 output were trucks, while hundreds of thousands of physicians and divers other persons require them for their useful character alone.

The foreign demand is growing, but it does not form a considerable proportion to the entire output. Last year 170,000 were exported, going mostly to England, British India, Canada and Cuba. There is one popular make that can be found in any place that civilized man has fixed his abode. The invention has not escaped the stigma of its original introduction as purely a thing of luxury, so it is taxed more than any other species of property. First the federal government takes a bite at it in the shape of a tax and it contributes annually about $150,000,000 to Uncle Sam's treasury. Most of the states have a license fee plaster on them and that takes something like $200,000,000 more, while of course automobiles are assessed the same as other personal taxes, while here and there a municipality puts on them a wheel tax.

Add to these taxes the original cost, the charge for upkeep and gasoline and oil and it will be found the people of the United States are paying over five billion dollars a year for automobiles, $50 for every man, woman and child.

Just to add one more vexation to the automobile the last assembly passed a law that every owner shall notify the county auditor of his possession.

To initiate the atrocious speech of the small boy with the apple: No, there ain't going to be no change. President Harding has followed Wilson again and appointed a representative to the league of nations council. Strange how everything Wilson did was wrong, because he did it, but it is all right and there is no blemish in it when done by his successor.

We farmers were complaining of the lack of weather like that of Mouday, but a week of it and we'll be grumbling for rain.

Sure things are picking up a bit. The mills are going on fuller and there's that big addition to be built. Have patience and at no greatly distant day you'll be impatient because the Peerless hasn't the houses for all who would abide in her busy midst.

If you are enjoying the moonlight, excursions just give a thought to the poor newspaper man, who had a vision, more than thirty years ago, of just such things to be. Those of his day said he was a dreamer and his dreams could never come true. But today, the Ohio is being canalized, is of a verity canalized to a great extent and the vision has more than half come true. Were it not for the few that see far ahead the many would not have the pleasures they possess.

We heard from a dear friend (would he) just this moment, that we had never heard from before. He revealed himself as the author of a book and all he wanted was that we subscribe for twenty-five copies of his book and give them to our dear friends in reality. Seems to us that he ought to know a man fortunate enough to have twenty-five dear friends would be foolish to try to buy another at the rate offered.

British Columbia, after three years of absolute prohibition, has gone back to the sale of liquor under government control. Our dry friends will say, like another instance when the demon was driven out, but to return with others worse than himself, British Columbia will be seven fold worse than she was. May be so, but what we have got to say is that unless there is better enforcement of prohibition in this country than there has been America is going to be worse even than that.

Two young fellows, stranded by running out of gasoline, stood on the Scioto Trail, at a point shortly this side of Lucasville and signalled a half hundred automobiles, but not one stopped until a bold newspaper man came along and let them extract a small supply from his limousine. The boys were bitter over the heartlessness of motorists, but they didn't know that word had come down the line not to heed roadside hails. Cars are abroad on the roads leading into Columbus. His said and they get at their victims by hailing them to a stop. Truth to say the n. p. m. didn't hear of the word until the next day, or his tin lizzie might be going yet.

This daylight savings business is all right, when it suits you, but when it doesn't it is "just awful." Got mixed up on it Sunday, missed dinner and hadn't a bite to eat from 8 o'clock city time to 6 o'clock old time.

Modern Terpsichores

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11.—The Dance of the Machine Gun was recently enacted by a young man at a local amateur performance before a highly edified audience. In this artistic effort the young man took something distinctly modern and tried to interpret the emotions which it would arouse in a sensitive beholder, just as the early Greeks, the early Egyptians, the American Indians and many other ancient and primitive peoples have interpreted the familiar and striking features of their lives in dance.

Opinion was divided as to the merits of the young man's performance. It was in fact rated all the way from the sublime to the ridiculous. But it had conceded that he was an artistic pioneer of a high order. Ever since certain stage stars popularized interpretive dancing in this country some years, the vogue of it as an art has been spreading. There are schools of interpretive dancing in nearly all of our cities. Plump ladies dance to get thin and thin ladies dance to get fat, and all of them dance, of course, to express their souls. In addition to the women, there is a small and courageous band of male dancers. These are the real martyrs of the cause, for, although among most primitive peoples dancing has been more a male than a female art, although David in the Bible danced for the glory of Jehovah in the face of his wife's disapproval, solo dancing has now come to be regarded as primarily a feminine art. Social dancing by couples, of course, is an entirely different thing, being a form of communal courting, and a fluent descendant of the social orgies of savage tribes, and not an artistic effort at all.

But the important point is that this brave young man of the machine gun dance was trying to invent an American and modern interpretive dance, and so get away from the imitative character of all our dances. Just as our architecture in this country is a grotesque mixture of Greek, Gothic, English and Italian with bits of Oriental, so our interpretive dancing has been imitative of Greek, Egyptian, and Hindu efforts. In neither is there anything original, anything "one hundred percent American." Now our literature just recently is showing strong signs of indigenous originality, and our architecture, dancing and other arts should be able to follow suit.

Some Possible Themes

If the young man's mechanical notion was followed out, we should have likewise the dance of the steam drill, the dance of the steam shovel, and above all the dance of the steam roller, which would afford special opportunities for the heavy talent which is abundant in dancing circles. But the new American school of dance should express the soul of the great American people rather than the mere mechanical externals of its industrial technology. For example, opposed to the famous barabara of the ancient Romans we should have the prohibition dance. The imagination fairly frolics with possible details. Likewise the dance of the blue jeans would surely be one of our masterpieces, embodying the very soul of our traditional patriotism. Imagine also dances which interpreted the spirit of a great American amusement park, and think of the effect which could be wrought in a dance of election night, or a dance of the Red Devil.

Does it strike you as ridiculous? It is by just such interpretations of their national and racial life that the ancient races of the dance to a plane of equality with music and painting as an art. And it is by our failure to interpret ourselves that we have left it to degenerate into jiggling and clogging.

We are at a disadvantage in creating a dance form typical of our period, because dancing has been almost no place in our lives as a title or for self-expression. In the beginning of the race, the primitive man began spontaneously to imitate the attractive rhythm of the waves or grass in the wind. Then rhythm became an accessory to worship, and for centuries, savages, Egyptians, Greeks, and Hebrews danced before their altars. But in the early medieval times religious dancing began to lose favor, until now only in Spain, among civilized nations, is there any religious dancing, and even there it has survived by evasion of an edict. Modern religion, with its door service, has no place for the ecstatic dance.

Our Unhygienic Lives

Not do our amusements and occupations lend themselves readily to rhythmic mimicry. We are told that the Greek maidens played knucklebones in their dances, and the Indians gave arrow, bead, feather, and spear dances, symbols of their interests. But when we take modern parties, golf, the automobile, machinery and airplanes—rhythmic possibilities have seemed negligible. Yet it may be that the fruit is in ourselves. Adenoted for her remarkable dance of the hunt. Why not a dance symbolic of the motorist? Or is it that we are so close to the automobile that we cannot see in it the picturesque qualities that we note at once in the Roman chariot? Any tyro at dancing could give you a chariot dance.

Amateurs get their ideas of free dancing from accounts saying that the Greeks danced spontaneously and did not spend long periods training for their festival dancing. The point overlooked is that the Greeks had strict physical training in gymnastics, and generally the heritage of a strong physique to begin with. The average person today can with difficulty hold a pose on one foot for ten seconds. Yet to express lightness in dancing, the individual must have the power to put his body into positions that are really easy and graceful. For us, who lack the heritage of the Greek, this means hard work. But the casual devotee of art futter along, trying to build a top story of jacobinism and Amazon dances on a wobbly foundation.

Another scarcely understood fact is that the Greeks used in their dances the natural ways of expressing emotion that are used in real life. When jealousy, grief, hatred, and love are strong enough, even the fingers, eyes, and shoulders respond with certain reactions. Isadora Duncan understood this. She found the Greeks inspiring because their dancing expressed emotions in ways which seemed to her natural and beautiful. Her aim was for the dance to interpret some aspect of life just as a poem or painting does, not to imitate Greek poses for the sake of doing a classic dance.

Many barefoot dancers, however, have wandered from this ideal of art. They take it that the same gestures can be used in every dance and that so long as a step is graceful it is appropriate. This leads to the confused wailing of arms and legs with which so many dancers greet the "Hungarian Rhapsody" and Chopin's "Favara d'Arco" alike. Then, too, we have the other extreme of Greek dances produced with a deadly precision that reduces them to the inspiration of a Swedish clip dance.

Greek dancing has been most popular with us because, in dancing, as in other things, we have more in common with the European than with the Oriental, Egyptian and Hindu dancers with angles, elbows, contortions, and Turkish trousers. Have added a dash of the exotic to our artistic efforts, but their vogue has been limited.

Strangely enough, the American Indian has never figured to any extent in our revivals of different styles of dancing. Yet the primitive Indian put religious and emotional expression in his dances no less than the Greek. The form of the Indian dances is often attractive. It is a mistake to think of them as nothing but monotonous leaping in a circle with grunts from the chorus. Indian dancing should appear to us, too, because of its symbolic and dramatic qualities. As a people, we respond most likely to dancing that tells a story.

We seem to be drawing more or less inspiration from the various peoples who made of dancing an art. We have this for a foundation. And now that the rhythm of machinery has been put into the language of the dance by one pioneer, it is possible that a school may grow up and that we shall have descriptive and dramatic dancing with modern themes. It may be the beginning of an American dance art.

We All Want What We Want

Mr. Roscoe Conkling Arbutick, named after a statesman famous for dignity, pulchritude and pride, has been fat from infancy. No matter whether his diet is abundant or scanty he continues fat. Even illness does not reduce him appreciably. Mr. Arbutick, colloquially known the country over as "Fat," has capitalized his wit and humor and is intent as a comedian in a way no thin man possibly could. But we stray from our purpose.

Mr. Arbutick is fat. Just naturally fat. It's a physical way of some people. Other people are lean by nature. The unpleasant fact that the things want to be thick and stout want to be thin. The American trait of supplying what the market demands has resulted in a multitude of fatteners and reducers put up in bottles. Almost without exception they are worthless.

The lean person may take on a little flesh by a properly chosen diet and cessation from worry and nervous strain. The stout person may get rid of much superfluous flesh by persistent exercise, abstention from fattening foods, and hard work. They are the only hope. Much perfectly good money is wasted in the search for thinness or plumpness through the necks of bottles.

But so long as curly haired people want straight hair, and straight haired people want curly hair (to use one desire as an illustration) there will be a constant take-off for those who ponder to their wishes. Bald-headed barbers will continue, also, to make a neat profit on hair restorers.

Texas Spinach

In three sentences we summarize certain significant food facts printed in the Railway Age.

The Texas farmer sells the spinach he raises for $5 a ton.

The railroad carries it to Chicago for $20.00 a ton.

The consumer of the spinach in Chicago gets it on his dining table at the rate of $30.00 a ton.

The farmer gets $5 out of a ton of "greens," the railroad gets six times that amount for handling it, and somebody between the farmer and the eater gets to times what the farmer gets.

Man's Pocket Capacity

An eastern contemporary sees the abandonment of the waistcoat—the President leading. It has been retained for years merely because of its pockets. Men are as fond of pockets as women are of silk stockings. They have five pockets in their trousers—two side, two hip, and one small waist; four and sometimes five in their waistcoats; and from five to seven in their coats.

What does a man do with fifteen pockets? In his coat he carries his pocketbook, letters, tobacco and cigars, his vestcoat there are pencils, fountain pen, watch, nail equipment, emergency medical tablets, chewing gum, odds and ends; in his trousers are loose change, penknife, keys, extra handkerchiefs and glasses. When he loses his waistcoat and its four pockets he is much put to it to dispose of the essentials he carries.

Talk about a boy's pockets; a man's carries a larger variety of all sorts of things.

PRINCESS LOUISE OF BELGIUM

One of the brightest life tragedies in the history of European royalty is that of Princess Louise of Belgium, eldest daughter of the late King Leopold II and cousin of the present king.

Today she is a white-haired old lady living in retirement and wondering, as she says, "whether I was actually alive or if I have not been the victim of a long drawn out nightmare."

Princess Louise was married when she was sixteen and for thirty-three years she was tied to a man she loathed. Estranged from her father and pursued by the hatred of her husband's family, she was finally placed in a lunatic asylum and declared "mad for reasons of state." For seven years she endured the torments of captivity, and then she made a thrilling escape.

About eight years ago the princess brought suit against the state of Belgium to recover the millions of her father's estate. At that time she was in a worse financial condition than she had ever been. The money lenders of Europe would not let her have a cent. At that time she had succeeded in getting into debt to the amount of $200,000.

well known story writer, is running a fadful beauty shop in New York. "Why stay at home and twiddle my thumbs?" she says.

Why, indeed, after the lady has discovered such a secret as she divulges? "I find," she says, "that I can run a business. The secret is to get the right kind of people to work for you." A secret millions have sought to uncover—in vain! Capital seeks them, opportunity lags in wait for them as they pass by, but only genius captures and harnesses them.

Those who happened to own homes, however humble, have been thankful during the period of high rents. The time to buy a home is whenever you are able to pay down a substantial part of its cost. Once owned it becomes an asset that helps in more ways than one.

Money is safe in a good bank. It is never safe in a pocket. Many dollars are saved by the man who is habitually "short" in his pocketbook and "long" in his bank account.

Germany fixes up the fingers while France oils up the triggers, says the Washington Post.

Q. What is the cause of the whirlpool at Niagara Falls?—D. E. M.

A. The whirlpool at Niagara is caused by the configuration of the channel. About midway in a gorge the channel makes an abrupt turn and here the onslaught of the torrent has worn out a vast circular basin, which forms the whirlpool.

Q. What does the word Chaudhurngungama—mean?—M. E. W.

A. The lake near Webster, Massachusetts, has the Indian name Chaudhurngungama, which is a shortened form of the Algonquin, Chaugogungamauchagaghehunnungungama. Its meaning has been much discussed, but many authorities have decided on the translation "large-water-where-many-blackbirds-make-their-chatter."

Q. How did biscuits come to be called by that name?—S. D. C.

A. This word is a compound of the French word "bis," meaning twice, and "cuit," meaning baked. Originally, the bread for use on shipboard, made in thin flat cakes as now, was baked twice, in order to secure the requisite hardness and dryness.

Q. When were chain cables first used?—P. L. H.

A. Chain cables were first employed on shipboard in 1811. The first vessel to use them was the Penelope, a West India ship. They were invented and patented in 1808 by a Navy Surgeon named Slater.

Q. How much land did Thomas Fairfax have in Virginia?—N. F.

A. Lord Fairfax acquired 6,000,000 acres of land in Virginia. This was 21 counties, or one-fourth of the entire colony of Virginia.

Q. How many different kinds of mosquitoes are there?—C. B. S.

A. There are more than 200 different kinds of mosquitoes known to science; of these over 60 species are common, and only 3 are known to carry malaria and one yellow fever.

Q. What Division received the most battle clasps?—A. D.

A. The War Department says that the First, Second and Forty-second Divisions received the largest number of battle clasps to be worn in connection with the Victory Medal. These divisions are each entitled to the six battle clasps. Four other Divisions (the Third, Twenty-sixth and Thirty-second) are entitled to five battle clasps.

Q. From what plant or tree is the gingerbread fruit obtained?—R. T.

A. The Dowie Palm or Gingerbread tree is native to Arabia. Upper Egypt and the central parts of Africa. The fruit is about the size of an orange and when the skin is peeled off a spongy dry substance of luscious sweetness is found. This substance bears a remarkable resemblance to gingerbread. A beverage made from the fruit is used in feasts.

Q. What is sewer gas?—P. P. F.

A. The Bureau of Public Health says that there is no such thing as sewer gas.

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. McINTYRE

Haunted
Daffodils of April
And plum-bloom of May
And fireflies of August
Haunt me today.

Golden and scarlet
Just a month ago
Were all the hills and meadows
Now white with snow.

And when the world was Springtime,
Yellow and green
Were everywhere a pageant
Gorgeous to be seen.

And when the world was Summer,
Orange and maroon
Flamed to the heavens
Love's long June.

But Winter has vanquished
Spring and Summer twin;
And now even proud Fall
Lies here slain.

Here in this dismal place
Where all are hurried deep,
Memories haunt me,
Waking or asleep.

Daffodils, plum-bloom,
Fireflies gay—
All the dead year's kinfolk
Haunt me today.

—H. Thompson Rich.

Sour Drop

"What is meant by the acid test?"
"Going on living after your best girl hands you a lemon."—Jacksonville Union.

A Laugh on the Lawyer

In a packing house hearing recently an attorney who had cross-examined a member of the butchers' union, on about every other subject, finally asked him what the packers did with the squeal. "They give it to the employees when they ask for a raise in wages," the man replied.—Capper's Weekly.

Going The Sign One Better

Patrons of a Boston restaurant noticed tacked on the wall a sheet of paper on which was printed in bold characters:

The umbrella in the stand below belongs to the champion heavyweight fighter of the world. He is coming right back.

Five minutes later umbrella and paper had disappeared. In their place was another notice:

"Umbrella is now in possession of the champion marathon runner of the world. He is not coming back."

His Ancestor

Lady (to her partner)—Have you any prominent men in your family, Mr. Dandegist?

Mr. D.—Yes, one of my forefathers was an Admiral. At one time he led the world's combined fleet.

Sure To Fly

A little girl heard her father call the mail "a darling little angel."

"Mamma," she asked a little later, "what's an angel?"

"An angel," explained the mother, "is something that flies, and—"

"We-I," interrupted the little girl, "papa called Julia a darling little angel just now. Will she fly?"

"She certainly will," replied the mother, "the first thing in the morning."

A Good Sign To Yield

It may be seen hanging on street cars.

The sign:

"The A. B. C. of Safety:

Always Be Careful."

If every one always would, what a higher ideal the world would reach, saving us time, money, sorrow, and trouble, and bringing to us the satisfaction of knowing that all our actions, little and big, had been guided by judgment. Such a sign should hang in every home and its message practiced daily. The world would be better for it.

Meeting Any Demand

"The baker's boy was very fresh. If a cake was 10 cents he'd say $10. The baker had to stop him."

"Why?"

"Some people started to pay it."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Hopless

"Why did you let that new salesman go?"

"He was incompetent."

"Yes."

"Why, that fellow couldn't sell a motor car to a man who had just struck oil."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

A Wise Head-Hunter

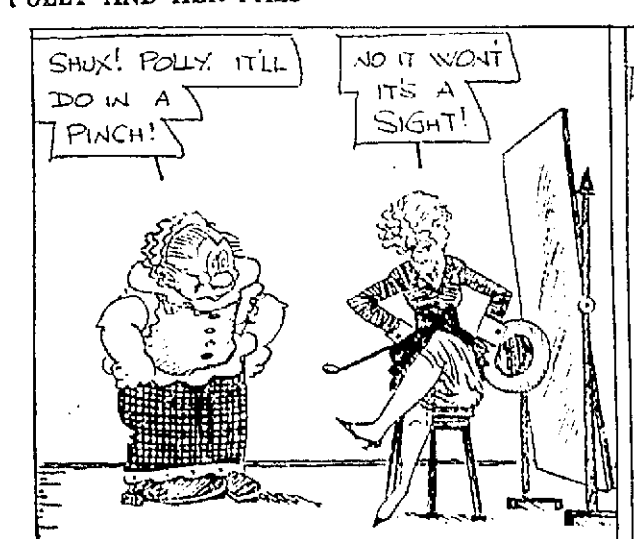

Mrs. Bacon Who was that man who just called?

Mr. Bacon. Oh, he wanted to sell me a preparation to make my hair grow.

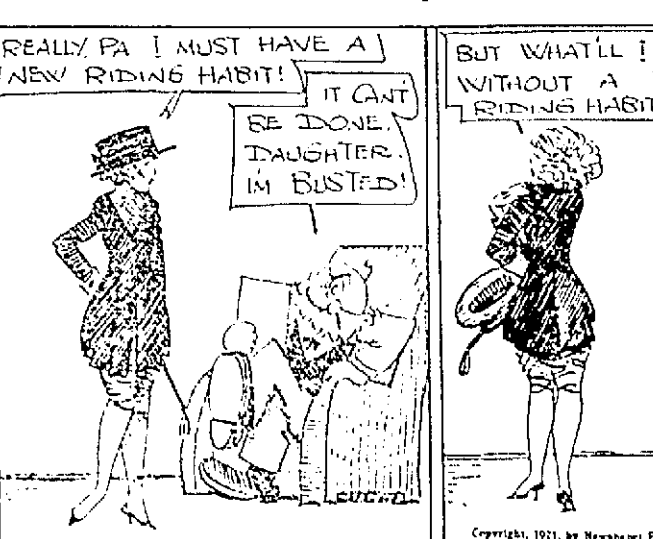

"But doesn't he know enough to take his hat off when he's talking to a gentleman?"

"He knew enough not to, my dear. The fellow's as bald as a billiard ball."—Yonkers Statesman.
